

The Cedar Trees

The cedar trees sway in the ocean breeze

For I speak for these

The ones who have no voices

I stand up for them because they've still got choices For the ones who growl

And the ones who howl

And the wild ones who yelp

They need our help