

Our World

Roses are red, violets are blue, we are here and so are You.

Together and forever, we are here to help this planet.
So have no fear.

This world is our world, not your world not my world.
It's our world.

Everyone deserves to be treated equally.

And I want to stand up for all the different people.

So that they don't have to be treated differently.

Some people are different and that is okay, we just need to focus on ourselves and our life.

Make sure to always be kind, even if you're hurt.